About the American Chemical Society

ACS Is the World's Largest Scientific Society

- Founded in 1876
- 154,000 ACS members worldwide
- ACS National Meetings twice each year attract 11-13K chemists, students, and related professionals
- 32 Technical Divisions provide programming and content for the National Meetings

ACS PUBLICATIONS, A DIVISION OF THE ACS,
VISION STATEMENT

“To be the world’s most trusted source of the comprehensive knowledge needed to cultivate the chemists of tomorrow”

New Journals

JACS, Chemical Reviews

First ACS journals become preeminent leaders in multidisciplinary chemistry

1951-1975

9

New Journals

Journal of Medicinal Chemistry, Environmental Science & Technology

ACS interdisciplinary surface science journal named after Irving Langmuir, 1935 Nobel Laureate in Chemistry

In 1960s, as concerns over environment grow, ACS launches ES&T

1976-2000

11

New Journals

Langmuir, Chemistry of Materials, Journal of Natural Products

2001-2016

21

New Journals

Nano Letters, ACS Chemical Neuroscience, ACS Sustainable Chemistry & Engineering, ACS Photonics, ACS Energy Letters, ACS Sensors, ACS Omega, ACS Central Science

As field of nanoscience emerges, ACS among first to respond with Nano Letters in 2001

ACS launches new journals as chemistry becomes key to advancements in fields such as neuroscience, photonics

The screenshot shows the ACS InfoCentral website. At the top, there is a blue header with the ACS Publications logo and tagline "Most Trusted. Most Cited. Most Read." on the left, and navigation links for "ACS Journals", "ACS eBooks", and "C&EN Global Enterprise" on the right. Below the header is a search bar with tabs for "Search", "Citation", "Subject", and "Advanced Search". The search input field contains the text "Enter search text / DOI", and there is a dropdown menu set to "Anywhere" and a "Search" button. The main content area features a navigation bar with "Home", "Products", "Subscriptions", "Resources", and "Get Help". Below this is a large banner with the "InfoCentral" title and a description: "InfoCentral provides the latest information for prospective and current subscribers to ACS Publications. Explore ACS Publications offerings, find information on new products, and download data on institutional usage. Also, access resources to help support users at your institution." Two buttons, "Explore our Products" and "View Resources", are positioned at the bottom of the banner. Below the banner, there is a "Featured Products" section with four items: "Journals" (represented by a book icon), "eBooks" (represented by a stack of books icon), "News" (represented by the "c&en" logo), and "Research Tools" (represented by a microscope icon).
